

Vincent Finn is an exceptional student. As a member of my course on Test Driven Development, he was the exemplar: always on time, learning, working, and helping fellow classmates. His speed to learning is well above average. His desire to not only learn as much as he can but also to educate and help his peers is consistent and outstanding.

Throughout the semester, Vincent was an outstanding student. His work was always completed on time and with the highest quality. He deals with situations maturely and is very well spoken. I am certain that Vincent is going to continue to do great things in his future. I highly recommend him for any position in the software development or engineering space. He is talented, dedicated, and focused in his pursuits.

-Boris Valerstein

www.borisy.me